

Listing of claims:

Claims 1-22: (Canceled)

Claim 23 (Currently amended)

An articulator tray having at least one opening with repeating wider and narrower regions, said tray having a superior surface from which said opening extends downward, said opening having continuously tapering ~~tapered~~ sides so that said opening is wider at the point where it said opening opens to the said superior surface of said tray, said tray also having projections extending upward from said superior surface of said tray.

Claim 24 (Previously presented)

The articulator tray of claim 23 having both a ball and a socket extending from said tray which act as reciprocating hinge means parts for interaction with hinge parts of a second articulator tray.

Claim 25 (Previously presented)

The articulator tray of claim 23 having a closure means covering the bottom of the opening of said tray.

Claim 26 (Currently amended)

An articulator tray having at least one opening with repeating wider and narrower regions, said tray having a superior surface from which said opening extends downward, said opening having continuously tapering ~~tapered~~ sides so that said opening is wider at the point where it said opening opens to the said superior surface of said tray, said tray having both a ball and a socket extending from said tray which act as reciprocating hinge means parts for interaction with hinge parts of a second articulator tray.

Claim 27 (Previously presented)

The articulator tray of claim 26 having projections on the superior surface of said tray.

Claim 28 (Previously presented)

The articulator tray of claim 26 having a closure means covering the bottom of said wider opening of said tray.